Why the Home?

The homes of America are under attack. That is obvious. But they are becoming so under attack, some experts tell us that our homes, as we once knew them, are becoming obsolete. I refuse to believe that because I want to tell you, friend, the home is not a happenstance. It did not evolve from the swamps of evolution and immorality.

The home was the first institution built by Almighty God. Jesus said, "Wherefore they are no more twain, but one flesh. What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder" (Matthew 19:6).

The home is divine in establishment. It was established by the Creator for the protection and for the development of man's deepest needs physically, psychologically, emotionally, and spiritually.
