All are Precious to God

Adrian Rogers - July 3, 2021

Honour all men. Love the brotherhood. Fear God. Honour the king. (1 Peter 2:17)

The word honor is a Greek word, which means "to give worth to." It includes the idea of something being precious. Every man, woman, boy, and girl is precious in the sight of God. Honor all men. All people are intrinsically precious, and the Christian citizen will see them that way. If there are people in this world that we do not see as precious, we do not understand the demands of Christian citizenship. All are precious in the sight of God.

Peter also said, "Love the brotherhood." He was talking about the Church. God is the father of those who've been born into His family through new birth. Brothers and sisters in Christ are brothers and sisters because they are in Christ. God has called all those in the family of Christ to love one another as He has loved us.
